Dear

In article 1, section 9 of the constitution, office holders are barred from accepting "any present, emolument, office, or title of any kind whatever from any King, Prince or foreign state."

This is relevant as Donald Trump has declared that he will not sell his businesses or create a blind trust for his holdings and Donald Trump's businesses, foreign and domestic, are receiving such payments. His new hotel in Washington, DC has actively sought emoluments through payments from foreign governments for use of the hotel. He is in violation of the United States' constitution.

You have an absolute obligation, through the elected office you hold, and because of the oath you have taken to uphold the constitution of your state and the Constitution of the United States of America to reject Donald Trump for the office of the President of the United States when you cast your electoral vote on December 19th 2016.

I remind you that your oath of office supersedes your obligation to your party or to the Electoral College.

Very truly,
